MESSAGE

We are glad to go through your publication "People Management" on management principles and practices. It is very interesting and informative and it shows the latest management techniques on how to train people.

The success and failure of an organization lies on its people. Therefore imparting proper training to its people is of paramount importance for the success of an organization. You have made the training module in a simple way so that the readers can grasp it easily.

We are sure that once the book is published it will have wide circulation among corporate world as well business schools and its students.

We wish you all success.
